

Tip of the Week: Website

Napa Valley College - McCarthy Library

Films on Demand

Tip #40

May, 2016

Films on Demand Full
Master Academic Edition for Academic Libraries

Username: napavlycoll
Password: digital

Multi-Subject
Collections

Films on Demand (FOD) is Napa Valley College's new streaming video service. We are excited to provide this service to our faculty and students through Instructional Equipment and Library Materials (IELM) funds. This cloud-based digital video delivery service contains a myriad of videos from Films for Humanities & Sciences, ABC News, NVC News, BBC, National Geographic, Nova, Frontline, The NewsHour (PBS), Bill Moyers, Arts & Entertainment, Dartmouth-Hitchcock Medical Center, Cambridge Educational and many more. In total, 800 producers of videos are included providing over 250,000 video segments. New video content is added daily. Take a look at Films on Demand's offerings.

Reach FOD from the Library Database page

Other features include:

- Unlimited Access 24/7
- Convenient segments (Thousands of predefined video clips Make it easy to find specific pieces of content quickly. Users can create their own unique custom segments, which can be added to a playlist or embedded into a learning management system or website (Canvas or SharePoint).
- Searchable Transcripts (All streaming videos have captioning and cross-searchable, interactive transcripts).
- Translations (Full language support through Google translate allows videos to be accessible in 80 different world languages).
- Dynamic citations are available in MLA, Chicago and APA formats.

Napa Valley College—McCarthy Library